

Circular Business Model: Home Improvement Material Reuse

Habitat for Humanity's ReStore is a social enterprise that sells donated new and used home improvement materials, including donated kitchens and bathrooms, helping families improve their homes at low cost and divert material from landfill.

Habitat for Humanity's ReStore have a number of locations across Ireland, stocking a selection of new and used DIY, home improvement, and building materials. The organisation also supports the community through training and employment opportunities.

Habitat ReStore featured as a 'Local Circular Solutions' organisation at the EPA Circular Economy Conference in 2022
