What is this page?
This is an RSS feed from the EPA RSS Feeds website. RSS feeds allow you to stay up to date with the latest licence submission inform	mation that is of importance or interest to you	u.
To subscribe to it, you will need an RSS Reader or other similar application. If you would like to know more about this feed content or	or use it on on your site, please go here.

2. RSS Feed Reader Applications

There are several RSS Feed Readers available that can be downloaded to a PC or mobile device. Some of the options that are available are demonstrated below:

2.1 Microsoft Outlook

Microsoft Outlook has the ability to act as an RSS Feed reader. When a subscription is added, an RSS feed appears in the desktop app as an inbox and it refreshes like it would in a regular feed reader or feed reading service.

In order to add an RSS feed to Outlook, you first need a link to it.

- a) Copy the RSS as per step 1 above
- b) Open Outlook and go to File>Account Settings>Account Settings.
- c) In the window that opens, go to the RSS Feeds tab. Click the New button and another, smaller window will open

١	/ou can add	or remove a	n RSS Feed. You o	an select an RSS Fee	ed and change its setti	ngs.

Example: http://www.exar	nple.com/feed/ma	ain.xml
	Add	Cancel

You will see a small window where Outlook will attempt to connect to the server that the feed comes from.

Once the connection has been established, you will see another window that lets you customize how the feed is fetched but you can leave everything untouched and click Add again to complete the process.

e) An 'RSS Subscription' folder will appear in the users outlook folder

2.2 Desktop Applications

A number of applications are available to subscribe to RSS feeds on PC. These are available via your Windows App Store or Mac App store by searching 'RSS'
